

Job Title : Service and Automation Engineer

Location: Miaoli County, Changhua County, Tainan City, Kaohsiung City, Taiwan, ROC

Responsibility:

- Development, implementation, and maintenance of customer-specific applications with our in-house software
- Worldwide installation and commissioning of our machines
- Optimization of automated processes in collaboration with our customers
- Training our customers in the safe use of the applications
- Ensuring and complying with required customer specifications
- Simple mechanical and electrical conversion work
- Participation in project and customer meetings
- International business trips for a globally active company

Qualifications:

- Completed degree in electrical engineering, mechanical engineering, optics, physics technology
- Relevant professional experience in a comparable position within a medium-sized manufacturing company is desirable
- Knowledge of electrical engineering, preferably in control and measurement technology
- Solid knowledge of optical systems (fiber technology, lasers, optical communication)
- Experience in using and applying a common programming language
- You impress with your communication skills and know how to strike a successful balance between the requirements of the organization and the expectations of our customers—both internally and externally
- For you, success is a team effort consisting of cooperation and partnership.
- You complement your independent, committed, and goal-oriented approach with a careful and conscientious work style.
- Willingness to travel nationally and internationally

Salary:

- Local Package
- Provide assistances of working visa application

Position valid through: 30 Sept 2026

Contact Email: michelle.su@ficontec.com